PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Once again the Edmonton Stamp Club will be hosting the Spring National Stamp Show. This is one of only three in Canada (the others are ORAPEX in Ottawa and London, Ontario). Thanks to our show committee for organizing this event.

Dealers from across Western Canada and exhibitors from North America will converge on the Central Lions Recreation Centre on March 29 and 30.

Dear reader, we hope you will be amongst the buyers attending this prestigious event. Bring your collections for free appraisals. There will be lots of chairs to sit in while you browse the collections of the many dealers. Bring your children and grandchildren as there are lots of activities at the Junior Tables.

The Edmonton Stamp Club is pleased to welcome the Calgary Philatelic Club to this year's Spring National.

The cafeteria will be open, and after lunch make sure you attend the informative educational seminars and the David Piercey Memorial lecture.

...and if you are interested in joining our club please attend our regular meeting on Monday 31 March at St. Joseph High School from 6 to 9 PM.

Once again we are asking for donations to the Edmonton Food Bank. Collection boxes will be at the show entry.

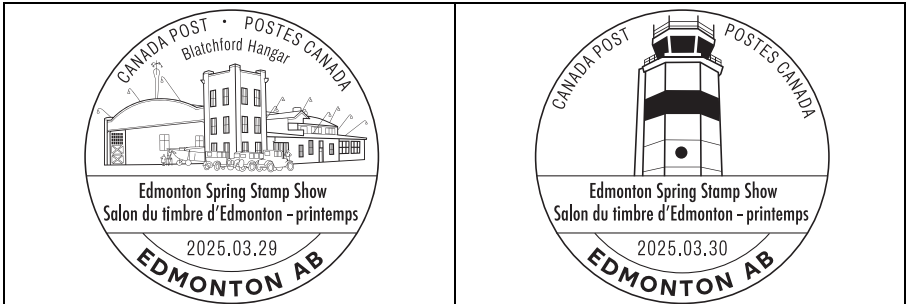

Welcome...and enjoy the Show.

David V. Pattison, President

The Edmonton Stamp Club is grateful to Frank Gasparik for taking photographs at this and our other recent Stamp Shows.

Edmonton's Aerial Contribution to the Cause in WWII: Commemorating the 80th Anniversary of the End of the War

Ed Dykstra
eddykstra(at)shaw.ca

In 1927 Blatchford Field became the home of Edmonton's early bush pilots such as "Punch" Dickins and "Wop" May, whose adventures and exploits helped open the Canadian North to flight and lay the foundation for the commercial aviation industry that ended in 2013.

The airport was an important center of commercial and military aviation, not just for the Edmonton region, but also for all of Canada and North America. In 1939, operations were handed over to the Canadian government as the airport filled a critical role as a Royal Canadian Air Force flight-training centre during the Second World War. In 1943, the North American record was set when 860 planes passed through what was at that time known as #2 Air Observer School. The current Aircraft Museum is actually one of very few all-wooden hangars. This was to save steel. The construction of this hangar is an example of human ingenuity. Another all-wood hangar, also on the airport, No 11, was sadly lost to fire.

The Americans delivered fighter and bomber aircraft to Russia via the North West Staging Route, with about 8000 passing through the Edmonton airport. Many planes crashed, either due to weather, pilot

The Judges

Stéphane Cloutier

Stéphane Cloutier started collecting Canadian postal history in 1998 and now has a serious passion for the postal history of Paris, France before 1900. He has been Secretary-Treasurer, then President of the Postal History Society of Canada from 2005 to 2019 and was named Fellow in 2019. He has also been involved in the smooth running of ORAPEX in Ottawa since 2006. He is a member of several stamp societies and became a fully accredited RPSC national judge in 2009 and named Fellow in 2016.

Steve Johnson

Steve Johnson started collecting as a young child through Cub Scouts, and with the aid of his stamp collecting dad and uncle. Rediscovering the hobby in the early 2000s, he started collecting Canadian Semi-Official Airmail stamps, with a particular interest in Yukon Airways and Exploration Company Limited.

Graduating from collector to exhibitor, Steve has earned National-level gold medals, along with FIP-level vermeil and gold medals, with a highlight being an FIP large gold medal for his Yukon Airways traditional exhibit. Steve has been an RPSC accredited National level judge since 2019.

John Wilson

John Wilson first became fascinated by stamps when, as a child, his mother's collection was used to distract him when he was ill and had to stay home from school for an extended period of time. He got his first "kit" at the age of twelve and began as he continues -- mounting and sorting an accumulation into blank albums.

He discovered auctions when at the University of Toronto, where he minored in All About Everything, and took up serious collecting after graduating, having bought a box of 13,996 stamps off paper (he counted!) from one of John Talman's earliest mail catalogue sales.

He has worked as a house manager in repertory theatre, as a public relations flack specializing in speechwriting, as a freelance journalist and editor, an arts administrator with both the League of Canadian Poets and the Canadian Authors' Association, and -- shockingly -- has spent fifteen years as an ESL teacher, all with the same company, which recently fulfilled his worst nightmare by presenting him with a dreaded watch on his anniversary!

He has volunteered with many organizations, including the Native Men's Residence, the Canadian Cooperative for Linguistic and Cultural Studies, and the Sussex-Ulster Residents' Association, as well as serving on the City's advisory committee on the rebuilding of Boys' and Girls' House (the Lillian Smith Library, the Osborne, and Merrill collections).

He is "not a joiner" and came late to stamp societies, but is presently active in the North Toronto club (first vice-president, program Chair and long-time Newsletter Editor) as well as the Hong Kong Study Circle and the Toronto Stamp Collectors' Club.

8 Edmonton Stamp Club Spring Show 2025

John collects philatelic literature of all sorts and is particularly interested in what lies beyond the accepted catalogues. He has a long-term interest in cancellations of the British empire and pays particular attention to the postal history of British Guiana and of Hong Kong and the Treaty Ports.

error or mechanical failure, and Edmonton WWI hero Wop May created his own civilian pararescue team to save men from needless death. Long-range air traffic control was also developed in Edmonton, by having a number of landline phones connected to the Edmonton airfield; crews would call in to Edmonton to see what was happening at their destination.

The all-wood hangar is now the proud Alberta Aviation Museum. Located on the southern boundary of the former city airport along Kingsway Avenue, it is guarded by a magnificent 1960s-vintage CF-101 VooDoo jet fighter.

Speakers

David Bartlet (Philatelic Specialists Society of Canada)

David has been collecting stamps since the age of six, with a few years off during university; but it has been a major activity for the last 50 years. In support of stamp collecting he has worked on the BNAPS website since 2009 and is presently doing the same for his current local club in Calgary. Presently he is BNAPS VP Regional Groups and over the years he has participated in regional groups across Canada and the USA and is the Calgary Regional group Chairman. Over the last few years he has worked with the organizing committee for BNAPEX 2012, 2017, and 2022 in Calgary, and has assisted with the souvenirs (stamp overprints) to raise funds for BNAPEX in 2012-14 and 2016-18.

David has spent time on Scouting-related activities from being a Scout in his youth. He is now active in the Maple Leaf Chapter of SOSSI (Scouts on Stamps) and has been a SOSSI Board Director; he is now serving a term as vice-president. He has worked in Camp Post Offices for two Canadian Jamborees in 2007 and 2013. At various shows over the last few years he would have been seen with his father, a dedicated Scouter, manning a SOSSI (or BNAPS) table. He has made exhibits on Canadian Jamborees and Scout Moots.

He has been exhibiting nationally across Canada for the last twelve years. His collecting and exhibiting interests include War Savings for both wars, ration material, Christmas and Easter seals, brewery and winery covers, cinderella seals, customs duty, BC Hospital, Admiral booklets, cello paks, and other things. Down the aerophilatelic area, he worked with Chris Hargreaves on creating and flying covers in commemoration of Brian Peck, Katherine Stinson, and the Alcock Brown flights.

Edmonton Stamp Club Spring Show 2025 19

Memberships include: RPSC, BNAPS, CPSofGB, PHSC, PSSC, SOSSI, and CAS.

Since 2003 David has worked as a Systems Analyst at WestJet Airlines in Calgary, Alberta, with his wife and two sons.

Kevin O'Reilly (Postal History Society of Canada)

Kevin O'Reilly has resided in Yellowknife, Northwest Territories, Canada since 1985, working for a variety of Aboriginal and public government agencies and non-governmental organizations. He has had extensive involvement in the environmental assessment and regulation of resource development in the Northwest Territories. He served on Yellowknife City Council from 1997 to 2006. Kevin holds a Bachelor's in Environmental Studies and a Master's in Urban and Regional Planning from the University of Waterloo.

He started collecting stamps of the world when he was introduced to the hobby by his mother. Kevin then specialized in Canada, then the Centennial Definitives, and in 1972 he sent off some self-addressed covers to post offices in the NWT and Yukon. This proved to be a turning point, as he quickly specialized in the postal history of the Northwest Territories,

20 Edmonton Stamp Club Spring Show 2025

Nunavut (as well as the Eastern Arctic Patrol), Yukon, and Labrador. Sidelines include United States Army/Air Force Post Offices (APOs) in Canada and Newfoundland, the International Grenfell Association, and W Force in Newfoundland and Labrador. He has published on these topics in many philatelic journals and his 1987 book, Northwest Territories Postal Cancellations 1907-1986, won the Frank Campbell award from the Postal History Society of Canada. This work continues to serve as the standard reference for this field.

In 2002 Kevin was one of ten recipients awarded the Queens' Silver Jubilee medal by the Royal Philatelic Society of Canada for his contributions to the hobby through research and writing.

Kevin has exhibited competitively since the 1980s winning several gold and vermeil medals for his Eastern Arctic Patrol, Labrador and other postal history exhibits. He often gives talks or presentations at shows that he attends on topics such as the postal history of the Canol Project, the 1929 Mackenzie Valley Airmails, and other aspects of northern postal history.

Battle of the Atlantic

Judy Madden
headachesolvers(at)gmail.com

The first Sunday in May is honored as Battle of the Atlantic Sunday. If you are in Downtown Edmonton in the morning, you may see a parade of Naval Reservists, Sea Cadets, and Legion Members. It was, and may still be, a church parade, with the members attending a service at one of the downtown churches. So what does this have to do with stamps, and what is the Battle of the Atlantic?

In reverse order, the Battle of the Atlantic was the longest battle of World War II. It was waged to protect communications, people, and supplies that were shipped overseas to support the Allies. It lasted from the beginning of the war until Nazi Germany was defeated. To put this into better context, Canada's navy in September 1939 included only 3500 personnel, both regular force and reserve, six ocean-going warships,¹ five minesweepers and two training vessels.²

This brings us to the stamp in question (Scott 260) which features a corvette. (It's pictured on the cover of this show program.) It could be built quickly. Sir Winston Churchill described them as "cheap but nasties." They were a "flower class" vessel (Great Britain named their corvettes after flowers) originally designed for offshore patrol work, and they became a mainstay in escorting convoys. Canada's corvettes were named after towns and cities in Canada. 294 corvettes were built during the Second World War. 122 of them were built in the Maritimes, Quebec, Ontario, and British Columbia shipyards. They were primarily manned by reservists.¹ They were effective. They sunk 52 U-Boats, and shipping losses declined as the war progressed as a result of their and others' efforts. This does not mean that the corvettes and their crews did not suffer losses. There were 29 corvettes sunk by a combination of U-Boats, mines, German air attacks, and clashes with other ships.²

If you were at all subject to sea sickness, I rather doubt you would have been at happy serving on a corvette as they were small and not designed for the open ocean. The bridge was open to the air. Quarters were cramped on them. However, the crews could still find the lighter side of life. They turned the ships names into rebuses, and painted them onto the ships. HMCS Wetaskiwin had a picture of a queen falling tail end first into a puddle. The Sackville has a picture of a sack. HMCS Sackville was the last corvette. During the winter it is berthed at HMC Dockyard in Halifax, but in the summer, it is open to tours and is berthed near the Canadian Maritime Museum. It is preserved by Canadian Naval Memorial Trust (<https://www.cnmt.ca/>).

If you are interested in a rather good read, I highly recommend The Corvette Navy by John Lamb.
